 Davy Bowman's dad looks forward to Halloween more than a kid, and Davy's brother, Bill, flies B-17s. Davy adores these two heroes and tries his best to follow their lead, especially now. World War II has invaded Davy's homefront boyhood. Bill has joined up, breaking their dad's heart. It's an intense, confusing time, and one that will spur Davy to grow up in a hurry. This is one of Richard Peck's finest novels—a tender, unforgettable portrait of the World War II home front and a family's enduring love.

One little girl is sad and grieves for her father who has died and lives in heaven; a caring adult comforts her. The girl believes heaven is a scary place, but the grownup assures her it's a loving and beautiful haven, filled with one's favorite things. A rhyming picture book for children, Wings of Love touches on a child's grief and the loss of a loved one. It shares compassion and offers a version of God and what heaven look like.

On December 29 of 2013, Chris Powell lost his wife of 24 years to a devastating illness, leaving him a widower with a 13-year-old daughter. In some of their last conversations, Bonnie encouraged him to step back into life, to find new love and happiness for himself and their daughter. On Wings of Love and Light tells the story of love lost to death, love found-lost-and found again. It is a story of miracles and faith, told in poetry and essays, as the authors discuss what the heart of love really is. It is a story of stepping back into new life, new love, new creativity, and nine stepchildren!

IRDA EDIZIONI Life and love are two sides of the same coin. There is no life without love and no love without the life that radiates emotions, choking, amplifies and often, very often, destroys. "Wings of Love" is all that and much more. It's love, passion, anger, hurt but never resignation. Already resignation, that you feel when there's a whole world collapses on him, when the foundations of our lighthouse and give us wreck abyss, and the abyss is just off the work of Mimma, daughter, wife, mother and woman that here, in these white sheets, she stripped herself, spoke of himself without restraint with his heart in his hand and a trembling pen that left to live all the feelings are mixed and contradict each other in his mind. It is said often that everything is broken by death, that when the lady in black, with his feral eyes, approaches us leaves only aridity and tears;...

The wings of love scale great heights. Love transcends all the barriers of caste, religion and sects. True love is a celestial bliss but rarely found in this seemingly complex world. Love if jilted can wreak vengeance and wear the dark color. Love is a feeling to be experienced by all. True love never expects any return and if unrequited never goes wrong.

As a bird flies freely through the air, so should our love for one another flow through our being. Our first and most important commandment for our life is love (Matt. 22:34-40). We rise in our spirit, our everyday living, and in the eyes of those around us as well as in the eyes of our Savior when we follow God's word daily.
