Poem-mobiles HarperCollins

This book of poems for children and their caretakers is part of The Poemenclature Series. Following in the Jurassic footsteps of Cunningham's award-winning book Dinosaur Name Poems, the current poems share the motif of using the names of things (nomenclature) to introduce topics that otherwise may be unfamiliar (as in "Sphygmomanometer") or even a little scary (as in "Cancer" or "Anesthesia"). The lyrical nature of the poems and the vibrant warmth of the illustrations give each topic the traction needed to get kids reading right into the poems and on through the "Learn More!" sections that follow each poem. A lively preface explains the joy of creating words, "poemenclature" specifically, and a fulsome glossary further defines terms.

Lizards, Frogs, And Polliwogs Lizards, Frogs, and Polliwogs

A child crouches beside a meadow brook, and a drop of water collects and falls from the child's fingertip to continue on its journey. Where does that journey begin? High in the sky, rain clouds are parting. Water trickles and flows down the mountain, collecting in an upland bog, seeping through a beaver's dam, rushing over rocks, passing many plants and animals along its winding way—each dependent on water and the different environments it shapes to live. Author and illustrator Gordon Morrison has captured a single moment in time, revealing the course and influence of water, and inviting readers to pause and consider the world around them in this beautiful and lyrical appreciation of nature and the resource that makes it all possible—a drop of water.
