Life Lessons from My "Papa" Henry Holt and Company (BYR)

Buckley and his mother cope with the loss of their father/husband by sending small wooden boats, built by Buckley, off into the ocean.

A Novel WestBow Press

When a child is conceived from sexual intercourse between a married, heterosexual couple, the child has a legal father and mother. Whatever may happen thereafter, the child's parents are legally bound to provide for their child, and if they don't, they're held accountable by law. But what about children created by artificial insemination? When it comes to paternity, the law is full of gray areas, resulting in many cases where children have no legal fathers. In Papa's Baby, Browne C. Lewis argues that the courts should take steps to insure that all children have at least two legal parents. Additionally, state legislatures should recognize that more than one class of fathers may exist and allocate paternal responsibility based, again, upon the best interest of the child. Lewis supplements her argument with concrete methods for dealing with different types of cases, including anonymous and non-anonymous sperm donors, married and unmarried women, and lesbian couples. In so doing, she first establishes different types of paternity, and then draws on these to create an expanded definition of paternity.

This book is about a preschooler who loves to visit her grandparents. It reveals the value of family and friends. It also contains teacher-friendly text including colors, alphabets, and numbers that children can learn and recognize. Scripture quotations, from the King James Version (KJV) of the Holy Bible are for inspiration to the reader. When looking at this book with children who are learning to read, help them remember pronunciations by saying words slowly. Repeating the word should encourage the children to say the word as well. The colorful words may help children get familiar with the spelling of specific colors. This book also provides an opportunity for children to make a distinction between characters.

Dr. Juvenna M. Chang has committed her life's work to education, serving as an elementary teacher and educational administrator. She has advocated for literacy in her classrooms, coordinated related workshops and conferences in the Pacific, and taught a course on literacy and literature for elementary students to preservice teachers. Dr. Chang played another critical role as the primary caregiver for her husband, who had Alzheimers. She observed the impact of this debilitating disease on family relationships, especially that of her grandson and his papa. She also noted that there were many resources on Alzheimers written for, about, and by adults, but books on this disease from a child's perspective were limited. Juvenna remains active in education and continues to support the Alzheimers Society. She lives with her family in Honolulu, Hawaii. This is her first children's book.

Everyday life is essential. Having lost her husband in a plane crash, a mother is encouraged by the growth of a persimmon tree, to convey the importance of life, despite the despair and hard life she and her children face.

Balloons for Papa HarperCollins

How does a pizza business go from a broom closet in the back of a rundown bar to a multinational chain with 5,000 stores and $3.7 billion per year in system-wide sales--and in only 30 years? The answer is simple: It puts its customers and its team members first. That's the story of Papa John's. That's the story of a "good business." And it could be the story of anyone who wants to run a company or benefit their community, so long as they're willing to apply the principles and practices that made Papa John's so wildly successful. 'Papa' is the story of the American Dream. It's the story of starting small and making it big. It's a story that can inspire anyone to follow their passion and chart their own path. Whether you're looking for the principles and practices that make a business successful, or you're just looking to read the story of someone who achieved more than they ever thought possible, this book is for you.

PAPA'S FAMOUS DANCES - PART 2 Three Dances From A Collection Of Six Dances As Combo Music EMMA'S BLUES JOEY'S READY WILSON'S BOOGIE WOOGIE PAPA'S FAMOUS DANCES PART 2 is a collection of 3 Dances as combo music composed and arranged by Joe Procopio for a small ensemble, band, stage band or combo with flexible instrumentation. These works may be performed with only two Saxes (Alto Sax I and Alto Sax II) and a standard backup with Piano/Keyboard, Guitar, Bass and Drums. In addition, any combo may be augmented by adding any or all of the parts included for Flute, Clarinet, Tenor Sax, and Baritone Sax. This flexible or variable instrumentation of the dances makes them unique and perfect for schools and colleges that do not have a permanent roster of music students entering their music programs annually. It also eases the burden for Directors searching for good music to perform for groups with ever changing numbers of music students. What's more, each dance has a section open for solos to enable the ensemble to feature players who can improvise well enhancing not only the group's enjoyment but also everyone's listening pleasure. These works have been performed by College and High School students in many major concert events along the East Coast with great success. They are published separately and in sets PAPA'S FAMOUS DANCES Part 1 and PAPA'S FAMOUS DANCES Part 2. Each Part contains 3 Dances. The works are named and dedicated to each of my 6 Grandchildren: Lilly, Mary, Lydia, Emma, Joey and Wilson.

Love, Papá is an inspiring book written through the eyes of a child growing up victim to home violence and in extreme poverty, a story of innocence lost to the hardships of life at an age when playing and dreaming is all that life should be. Love, Papá is a story of perseverance, faith, and resiliency in the midst of chaos and scarcity. "We teach our children how to live life; in return, they teach us the meaning of it." Love, Papá is the tale of one, yet it is also the story of millions of children around the world being brought up in broken households by kind and faithful mothers. Love, Papá is a story of faith and mistakes that are essential in the recipe of life and wisdom. Life's best and strongest lessons are learned through hardships and failures. Prepare to feel a roller coaster of emotions, including hate, sympathy, happiness, sadness, and love. Life is perfect in its own way. God is always in control.

PAPA'S FAMOUS DANCES PART 2 NYU Press

Jenny Sue KostECKI-Shaw's Papa Brings Me the World is a poignant picture book that celebrates the bond between parent and child, and follows their long-distance trip around the world. Most parents drive a car or ride a bus or train to work—but not Lulu's papa. He navigates mountains, deserts, and oceans, each time returning home with pockets full of treasures. There's an ancient calculator from China, a musical mbira from Zimbabwe, and a special game from Sumatra. But the best treasures are special stories Papa tells when he comes home—tales of playing peekaboo with rare birds in the Andes and befriending dragons in the Irish Sea. This long-distance love story between parent and child celebrates inclusivity, imagination, and the richness of global cultures. Christy Ottaviano Books

Thomas's Journey from Doubt to Belief Christian Faith Publishing, Inc.

The first full biography of the star Negro Leaguer and Hall of Famer James "Cool Papa" Bell (1903-1991) was a legend in black baseball, a lightning fast switch hitter elected to the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1974. Bell's speed was extraordinary; as Satchel Paige famously quipped, he was so fast he could flip a light switch and be in bed before the room got dark. In The Bona Fide Legend of Cool Papa Bell, experienced baseball writer and historian Lonnie Wheeler recounts the life of this extraordinary player, a key member of some of the greatest Negro League teams in history. Born to sharecroppers in Mississippi, Bell was part of the Great Migration, and in St. Louis, baseball saved Bell from a life working in slaughterhouses. Wheeler charts Bell's ups and downs in life and in baseball, in the United States, the Dominican Republic, and Mexico, where he went to escape American racism and MLB's color line. Rich in context and suffused in myth, this is a treat for fans of baseball history.

The Final Two Plays of The Orphans' Home Cycle FriesenPress
Read Along or Enhanced eBook: When a soldier has to leave his or her family for extended service, it's an emotional time for all involved. It can be especially confusing and upsetting for children, who long for the comfort and security of a parent's presence. Papa's Backpack honors the bond between a parent/soldier and a child, and acknowledges the difficult and emotional process of separation during deployment. A young bear cub dreams of accompanying Papa when he leaves on a mission, wanting to stay close to provide comfort and moral support, ultimately overcoming adversity together.

Our homeless population presents an opportunity and challenge for faith-based groups, nonprofits, and the government to develop programs to help people transition into safe affordable housing. While the majority of the homeless are men, women are the most vulnerable living on the street. Housing appears to be the primary need, as once people have secure housing, services can be provided and resources used to assist them become independent. Papa's House, while fictional, does present several characters struggling with life on the streets. While their backgrounds have similarities, each is unique. In Papa's House, the reader will meet these women and may even identify to them in some ways. Most homeless people do not want to be homeless and, given opportunity and compassion, will succeed in developing independence. It is the author's hope that the book will challenge and motivate readers to take action and become part of changing someone's life forever!

Thomas yearns to believe in Papa's angels, to see the unseen, hear the unheard, touch that which lies just beyond the ether of understanding. Yet, he is afraid that to do so will plunge him into the same deep place of madness that afflicted his father—"seeing angels in the olive trees, and imagining the boy, Jesus, emerging from the caves along the dead waters. Even after he becomes a disciple of the itinerant preacher from Nazareth, and sees the glorious miracles, hears the stories of healing and comfort, he holds back, afraid to commit, afraid to lose himself in Jesus's calling to unconditional love. In the end, Thomas realizes that while his struggle for understanding matters, salvation demands acceptance of the persistent doubt that beats within the heart of faith.

A Daughter's Journey Caring for Her Elderly Father Forge Books

In 16 thoughtful meditations, David Metzger, a father and a pediatric oncology nurse, describes the difficult, beautiful, and profound experience of caring for both his patients and his own young children. Metzger brings in the voices of seasoned nurses, young patients, and his patients' parents, each adding a perspective that helps guide him throughout his career. Equally powerful, he invites readers deep into his days, both the joyful and the painful. These experiences plus the familiar struggles and comic blunders of early parenthood result in a moving, sometimes hysterical, often sad, but always honest look at what it truly means to be a caregiver. A unique perspective on the ins-and-outs of working in the medical field, Nurse Papa is not just a book for parents but for anyone who ponders life's big questions.

Papa's Jade By: Patricia R. Liles Family ties are fragile. A telegram informing Millicent Sherman of her brother Caleb Powell's death and his bequeath of Powell Imports to his only child comes as a shock. Sondra, his daughter, has been Millicent's to nurture for over twenty years. With no contact to her father, Sondra has denied her relationship with him: "I don't have a father - he gave me away when I was a toddler. Let his Jade have it." Siu Lu, Caleb's 10-year-old adopted child, has lived in California where he could monitor her care under Gem Chang, a Chinese-American woman who Millicent embarrassingly mistakes for his mistress. Sondra, for Millicent's sake, relents and travels to California for her father's memorial. As rumors of a priceless jade given to Caleb hover in the air; no one is aware the jade specter will alter all their lives forever. Will love, abduction, and death draw them closer in Caleb's memory? Or alienate them forever?
