The dynamic but little-known story of how archives came to shape and be shaped by European culture and society

Tamadun Islam dan tamadun Asia Walter de Gruyter GmbH & Co KG

The notion of the author as the creator and therefore the first owner of a work is deeply rooted both in our economic system and in our concept of the individual. But this concept of authorship is modern. Mark Rose traces the formation of copyright in eighteenth-century Britain—and in the process highlights still current issues of intellectual property. Authors and Owners is at once a fascinating look at an important episode in legal history and a significant contribution to literary and cultural history.

This book touches the construction and development of Islamic civilization through other great civilizations of Asia.

Tamadun Islam & Tamadun Asia II Rutgers University Press
In this witty, engaging, and challenging book, Carolyn Steedman has produced an original and sometimes irreverent investigation into how modern historiography has developed. Dust: The Archive and Cultural History considers our stubborn set of beliefs about an objective material world inherited from the nineteenth century with which modern history writing and its lack of such a belief, attempts to grapple. Drawing on her own published and unpublished writing, Carolyn Steedman has produced a sustained argument about the way in which history writing belongs to the currents of thought shaping the modern world. Steedman begins by asserting that in recent years much attention has been paid to the archive by those working in the humanities and social sciences; she calls this practice "archivization." By definition, the archive is the repository of "that which will not go away," and the book goes on to suggest that, just like dust, the "matter of history" can never go away or be erased. This unique work will be welcomed by all historians who want to think about what it is they do.

Buku ini menerangkan tentang pengenalan ilmu ketamadunan yang merupakan pengenalan kepada teori-teori tamadun yang universal.

Tamadun Islam & tamadun Asia Penerbit UTM Press
Buku Tamadun Islam dan Tamadun Asia (TITAS) ini merupakan buku ilmiah yang menerangkan tentang ilmu ketamadunan, terutamanya tentang tamadun-tamadun di Asia termasuk budaya dan falsafahnya. Buku ini menumpukan kepada perkembangan Tamadun Islam serta interaksinya dengan tamadun-tamadun dunia yang lain. Ia juga menonjolkan Tamadun Islam sebagai contoh utamanya. Buku ini menepati sukatan pelajaran pengajian Tamadun Islam dan Asia yang diwajibkan kepada para penuntut di Universiti Awam (UA) dan Universiti Swasta (US). Buku ini bertujuan untuk mempercambahkan perbincangan berkaitan ilmu ketamadunan di institusi pengajian tinggi dan membuka minda penuntut tentang pengajian dunia dan memahami aspek-aspek penting ilmu ketamadunan. Pengajian ini juga akan merintis jalan ke arah pemikiran global, kritis, rasional dan terbuka. Setiap bab menyentuh tentang aspek-aspek penting ketamadunan termasuklah sejarah, agama dan falsafah, tradisi dan budaya asli serta kedatangan Barat dan pengaruhnya. Buku ini juga mampu memberi pengetahuan dan gambaran betapa masyarakat Asia umumnya dan masyarakat Islam serta masyarakat Melayu khususnya telah pun mempunyai tamadun sendiri yang unggul dan sesuai dengan keadaan semasa. Oleh itu, diharap buku ini dapat memberi pengetahuan dan pemahaman yang baik tentang keseluruhan konsep dan ilmu ketamadunan.

Andrew Piper grew up liking books and loving computers. While occasionally burying his nose in books, he was going to computer camp, programming his Radio Shack TRS-80, and playing Pong.

His eventual love of reading made him a historian of the book and a connoisseur of print, but as a card-carrying member of the first digital generation—and the father of two digital natives—he understands that we live in electronic times. Book Was There is Piper's surprising and always entertaining essay on reading in an e-reader world. Much ink has been spilled lamenting or championing the decline of printed books, but Piper shows that the rich history of reading itself offers unexpected clues to what lies in store for books, print or digital. From medieval manuscript books to today's playable media and interactive urban fictions, Piper explores the manifold ways that physical media have shaped how we read, while also observing his own children as they face the struggles and triumphs of learning to read. In doing so, he uncovers the intimate connections we develop with our reading materials—how we hold them, look at them, share them, play with them, and even where we read them—and shows how reading is interwoven with our experiences in life. Piper reveals that reading's many identities, past and present, on page and on screen, are the key to helping us understand the kind of reading we care about and how new technologies will—and will not—change old habits. Contending that our experience of reading belies naive generalizations about the future of books, Book Was There is an elegantly argued and thoroughly up-to-date tribute to the endurance of books in our ever-evolving digital world.

Archives are considered to be collections of administrative, legal, commercial and other records or the actual place where they are located. They have become ubiquitous in the modern world, but emerged not much later than the invention of writing. Following Foucault, who first used the word archive in a metaphorical sense as "the general system of the formation and transformation of statements" in his "Archaeology of Knowledge" (1969), postmodern theorists have tried to exploit the potential of this concept and initiated the "archival turn". In recent years, however, archives have attracted the attention of anthropologists and historians of different denominations regarding them as historical objects and "grounding" them again in real institutions. The papers in this volume explore the complex topic of the archive in a historical, systematic and comparative context and view it in the broader context of manuscript cultures by addressing questions like how, by whom and for which purpose were archival records produced, and if they differ from literary manuscripts regarding materials, formats, and producers (scribes).
