Overnight 1-5AM | Call-in 800-848-WABC (9222) "The Other Side of Midnight" is live and local radio at its finest, with an emphasis on theater of the mind.  Like many big studio movies of the era, for "The Other Side of Midnight," a sprawling international cast means nobody is really acting in the same movie with anybody else. It's a mix of soon-to-be big Hollywood starlets, arthouse imports, and old hams. Nobody is in tempo.

 An over-the-top film co-starring a young and gorgeous Susan Sarandon, The Other Side of Midnight is a deliciously melodramatic adaptation of Sidney Sheldon's sweeping (and often schlocky) novel of the same name. Released theatrically in 1977, the film focuses on the intermingling lives of sexily innocent Noelle (Marie-France Pisier), who has a brief affair with a cad named Larry (John Beck), who ends up marrying wealthy and proper Catherine (Sarandon).
