behind the scenes into the inner life of a scientist exploring inner space, or "far-out spaces," as Lilly called them. Center of the Cyclone: Looking into Inner Space by John C ... The main parts of a tropical cyclone are the rainbands, the eye, and the eyewall. Air spirals in toward the center in a counter-clockwise pattern in the northern hemisphere (clockwise in the southern hemisphere), and out the top in the opposite direction. In the very center of the storm, air sinks, forming an "eye" that is mostly cloud-free. NWS JetStream - Tropical Cyclone Structure Eye (cyclone) The eye is a region of mostly calm weather at the center of strong tropical cyclones. The eye of a storm is a roughly circular area, typically 30–65 km (20–40 miles) in diameter. It is surrounded by the eyewall, a ring of towering thunderstorms where the most severe weather and highest winds occur. Eye (cyclone) - Wikipedia Dr. John C.
