The Siege of Kut-al-Amara: At War in Mesopotamia, 1915 ...The World War I Ottoman siege of Kut (Al Kumt, Kut-Al-Amara, Kut El Amara) in Mesopotamia ended in a major British military defeat. The great plain of Mesopotamia that comprises present-day Iraq is drained by the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, which in 1914 provided the region's chief avenues of communication.

Siege of Kut - HISTORY THRILLThe town of Kut-al-Amara had been under siege for nearly five months and on 29 April 1916, 13,000 soldiers were taken into captivity. A third of the prisoners were to die. This was a major disaster. The human stories of imprisonment are all but forgotten.

The History Press | The siege of Kut-al-Amara, 1916Battles - The Siege of Kut-al-Amara, 1916 Following the signal (and, to the British at least, unexpected) failure of the Anglo-Indian attack upon Ctesiphon in November 1915 Sir Charles Townshend led his infantry force, the 6th (Poona) Division, on a wearisome retreat back to Kut-al-Amara, arriving in early December.

First World War.com - Battles - The Siege of Kut-al-Amara ...The Siege of Kut al-Amara between 3 December 1915 and 29 April 1916 is an important episode of the war between the Ottoman Empire and Great Britain. The surrender of approximately 13,000 British-Indian soldiers after 147 days of siege was the worst surrender in the history of the British army up to that point, and a great victory for the Ottomans.

Kut al-Amara | International Encyclopedia of the First ...Kut-al-Amara was the site of one of the longest sieges ever endured by British forces. On December 3, 1915, the 6th Indian Division under Charles Townshend sought refuge from pursuing Turkish forces inside the walled town.

Amazon.com: The Siege of Kut-al-Amara: At War in ...This article examines the role of Indian soldiers and camp followers during the siege of Kut-al-Amara, from December 1915 to April 1916. Historians have traditionally attributed the demise of the British garrison at Kut to the suspect decisions of its commander, Charles Townshend, and his superiors. This article argues that the conduct of the Indians attached to Townshend's force contributed significantly to its defeat.

Sepoys and the Siege of Kut-al-Amara, December 1915-April ...Following a battle there, the British forces withdrew back to Kut. On December 7, 1915, the Turks, under their commander, the German Field Marshal Baron von der Goltz, arrived at Kut and began a siege. The British cavalry under Colonel Gerard Leachman succeeded in breaking out, but Townshend and the bulk of the force remained besieged. Many attempts were made to relieve Townshend's forces, but all were defeated.

Kut - WikipediaThe Battle of Ctesiphon and the Siege of Kut Al Amara Townshend advanced in the direction of Ctesiphon on November 20. On November 22, he engaged in a new battle with the Turkish forces, which were under Colonel Nurettin's command. It was a bloody battle and both sides suffered great losses (Karal 1996: 487).
