The book is designed as a basic text for the introduction to ancient Greek mythology and beliefs, and the text muses about the religious lessons we might learn from them. I want him to be my first.I want him to be the one. I want him to be my everything. I didn't expect to spend my eighteenth birthday stranded in the pouring rain with no way to make it home. I didn't expect to be rescued from the worst night of my life by the most amazing man I'd ever seen. His name is Nick, and he says he wants to take care of me, says he'll look after me, says I don't need to be alone anymore. He treats me like a princess, like the fragile little girl he saved from the cold. But I like him... I like him like that. I've never liked anyone like that before... And it's weird, this thing we have... It's like I can't decide how we're supposed to be... what we are... Until he says the words... Call me Daddy.

The dazzling story of a Nigerian family. The house at the end of Freetown Street in Nigeria's Sabon Gari was once a sanatorium for colonists deranged from the heat and insanity of the place. Now it is home to a family whose unorthodox lives unfold into legend: Sweet Mother, an artist, her husband Shariff, a writer and soldier, and their children André and Max. From the moment his baby brother André is born, Max attaches himself to him, even dreaming the boy's homicidal dreams. When the wayward André later pulls free from the family to join a death cult, Max must decide how far he will be drawn into his brother's web. Serene and beautiful, Ladidi joins the family as a foster child, promising to marry the boy at school who can bring her a strawberry, a fruit she has never tasted.

Sensuality blooms, along with loss of innocence amid the death of music legend Fela Kuti, massacres, disappearances, abductions and broken promises. While Sweet Mother and Shariff battle their personal demons, Max realises you cannot save your family. But can you ever escape them? In his exhilarating debut, TJ Benson conjures up a kaleidoscope of Nigeria. This is the extraordinary tale of five people bound by blood, each searching for a way through.

The growth of Bantu Churches has been a marked feature of religious development in South Africa. In his study, Dr. Sundkler traces the development of the Bantu Churches, which seceded from the Missions or split amongst themselves. The author gives an account of the life and aspirations of these purely Bantu churches and of their leaders. Dr. Sundkler's study is concentrated on the contact which took place in these churches between the old heritage of the people and the new message of the Christian Gospel.

Although sexuality is an integral part of close romantic relationships, research linking these two constructs has been less systematic than other areas pertaining to close relationships. To date, researchers in communication, sociology, family studies, psychology, and psychiatry, have made significant advances in both of these fields. The editors' goal is to integrate this research into one volume. They bring together major scholars from the diversity of fields working on close relationship topics to examine past contributions and new directions in sexuality. The emphasis is on theoretical integration and stimulation, methodological rigor, and critical analysis. This volume explores: *early sexual experiences and their impact on late life sexuality; *how life's stresses impact sexuality and satisfaction with closeness; *the affect of postpartum depression on sexuality; and *the relationship between control, power, anger, as well as revenge and sexual processes in couples. The Handbook of Sexuality in Close Relationships is intended for students and researchers in the disciplines of social, clinical, developmental, and health psychology; family studies; counseling; and interpersonal, family, and health communication. An excellent reference in advanced courses in close relationships taught in psychology, communications, sociology, anthropology, and family studies, the material in Part V will also appeal to clinical psychologists, health professionals, and policymakers.

In the journey of life, many get down and many get in, but the train of life goes on. Not the driver but the guard-I mean God-decides who'll get down and who'll get in, when and where. Rajeev, George and Narayanan, three jail mates, take a vow that they will never come back to jail in their life. Narayanan-elderly, sympathetic and kind-who loves his granddaughter Lallu more than his life, was thrown out of the house by his son Gopal and daughter-in-law Rudra by treachery. What has fate in store for him now? George, who had an affair with Jaya, returns from jail only to find that she got married to Kannan. Will he meet Jaya again? Rajeev, who was popularly known as "Dr. Rajeev", was jailed for practicing as a physician without proper qualifications, but he is an expert in the medical field because of his practical knowledge in the field from his early childhood. After coming back from jail, he faces many occasions which persuade him to practice again as a doctor. He is put to test when he refuses to treat a patient whose niece, Shobana, he is in love with. Will he have no option but to risk being jailed for practicing as a doctor and saving lives? Will they be able to keep their promise to each other?

She's dealt with her anger, depression, and blindness primarily on her own. On a mission to find someone who will train a dog specifically for her, she ultimately zeroes in on Kate. They say lightning never strikes the same place twice. But positive lightning is notoriously unpredictable and can ignite

We started considering the subject of heaven and hell; a very powerful subject.
 This subject is not taught as much in the body of Christ again for many reasons.
 We just feel that it puts fear in people and we live in a time and age where people should not be made to be afraid.

 Unfortunately, if we do not teach about the reality of the afterlife, that there is eternity beyond this realm, we'll be cheating them. This is the heart of the Christian experience. So, we started last week. Part one was proving to us from scripture that there is a place called heaven and there is a place called hell.
 Incase you've been indoctrinated to believe there is no heaven, it doesn't make any difference there is because one day you'll see one of those places for sure whether you believe it or not.
 The question is not 'will you spend eternity?' that's a wrong question. It's the location that matters because you'll spend eternity for sure
