The Botany Of Desire Featuring Michael Pollan and based on his best-selling book, this special takes viewers on an eye-opening exploration of the human relationship with the plant world, seen from the plants' point of ... The Botany of Desire: Based on the book by Michael Pollan ... In The Botany of Desire, Michael Pollan ingeniously demonstrates how people and domesticated plants have formed a similarly reciprocal relationship. He masterfully links four fundamental human desires—sweetness, beauty, intoxication, and control—with the plants that satisfy them: the apple, the tulip, marijuana, and the potato. The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World ... Directed by Michael Schwarz, Edward Gray. With Frances McDormand, Michael Pollan. Michael Pollan, a professor of journalism and a student of food, presents the history of four plants, each of which found a way to make itself essential to humans, thus ensuring widespread propagation. Apples, for sweetness; tulips, for beauty; marijuana, for pleasure; and, potatoes, for sustenance. The Botany of Desire (TV Movie 2009) - IMDb The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World is a 2001 nonfiction book by journalist Michael Pollan. Pollan presents case studies that mirror four types of human desires that are reflected in the way that we selectively grow, breed, and genetically engineer our plants. The Botany of Desire - Wikipedia The Botany of Desire is a book which presages two of Pollan's later books, The Omnivore's Dilemma, and How to Change Your Mind; the other two books were written later, and are better books, in my opinion. That said, there is much to learn in reading the Botany of Desire (BoD, hereinafter). The Botany of Desire: A Plant's-Eye View of the World by ... The Botany of Desire -
